THE TAMMANY RING.

[From the N. Y. Independent.]

"The dearest ring in Venice will I give you,
And find it out by proclamation."
—Merchant of Venice.

The history of the Tammany Ring is the history of a small faction which has risen through opportune circumstances and ability of a certain order to the control of the first city in the Union. A brief sketch of its origin, members, and the means by which it has accomplished its ends may be useful in the present crisis in New York.

The Ring takes its name from the Tammany Society—a political club, which when founded, in 1789, was of a highly respectable character, but has since degenerated from a center of national politics to an instrument of personal ambition and local intrigue. During the days of Fernando Wood the Tammany Society became the controlling power in municipal affairs, and it was through it that the leaders of the Ring acquired much of their power.

The actual members of the Tammany Ring are Sweeny, Tweed, Hall, and Connelly; though others have aided them in getting and sharing the spoils. The record of these four men is black, indeed, and it supplies a curious chapter of biography.

Peter B. Sweeny is of the humblest origin. Of Irish parentage, he is remembered by some as a ragged boy, playing about the streets of New York near the stables kept by his uncle, Thomas Barr, the present sheriff, in the famous Sixth Ward. After having only an ordinary public school education, he entered the law office of the famous advocate, James T. Brady, where he acquired the rudiments of the legal profession. Politics, however, proved more attractive than law, and a naturally secretive and retiring disposition disinclined him for practice in the courts, while it fitted him especially for political wirepulling and scheming. Sweeny soon became interested in the ward elections and like matters, and was made the general factotum and assistant of his uncle, who was successively elected assistant alderman and State Senator. In Albany he found himself in his true element, and soon took a leading position as a lobbyist. He carried a number of corrupt schemes through the Legislature, including gas monopolies railroad charters, omnibus lines, and like matters, which brought him in much wealth; and he became known as one of the most expert of all the members of the third house at our State capital.

In 1859 Mr. Sweeny was appointed district attorney of the city of New York; but, as is alleged, his dislike of appearing in public led him to go to Europe, as an excuse for not performing the duties of the office. The latter he afterward resigned, and returned to the more congenial occupation of political manager. He was involved in all the elections from his district, and had contests with Justice Ledwith, Congressman James Brooks, Chas. G. Halpine—well know as "Miles O'Reily"—and Thomas Murphy, the present collector of New York, for the control of certain offices, in which he sometimes failed, though his political power constantly increased. In 1867 Sweeny was made city chamberlain by Mayor Hoffman, with a salary of $10,000, while as city treasurer he received a like amount for doing precisely the same duties, owing to the peculiar character of the law which prescribes the nature of the two offices. But, not content with this emolument, the tax levy of 1868 was altered so as to give him a percentage on all the money passing through his hands, amounting to the modest sum of $41,522 per annum, or a total income of sixty odd thousand dollars. Is it strange that, with such pay as this, with other money from law receiverships, pavement jobs, and swindles, that Mr. Sweeny is a rich man and can live in opulence.

Space will not permit further details of Sweeny's other operations in Albany and the city, nor his connection with Fisk, which led to his appointment as a director of the Erie Railroad. It is enough to say that he now fills the position of political dictator in the metropolis, wielding an absolute authority over the Democratic party, pocketing the lion's share of all city jobs, and planning new schemes for plundering the city and State treasury.

Personally Mr. Sweeny is a man of considerable culture, with a taste for general literature. He is a fair lawyer, and knows the statutes of the State and county of New York thoroughly, having manipulated most of those which have been passed in late years. He is seldom seen in the streets or public places; but does his work in committee-rooms and private offices. His appearance is forbidding. He is short and thick-set, with dark complexion, coarse features, of low forehead, black moustache, and a morose expression. He is reticent and unsocial, except among intimate friends. Few admire him personally, while he has many enemies and is a man of vindictive and unforgiving disposition. His power is due wholly to his ability, and will last just as long as he is successful. I need only add that, like most New York politicians, he is a devoted Catholic.

William M. Tweed, generally known as "Boss Tweed," is a native of New York and of Scotch descent. His father was a chairmaker by trade, and Tweed succeeded to the business; but, losing his capital by some catastrophe, he adopted politics as a profession. To do this he joined the volunteer Fire Department, and by his energy and force of character became foreman of engine company No. 6, from whence comes his title of "Bix Six." This was the first step in those times on the ladder of political advancement. Tweed next became a ward politician, and filled various offices, with constant increase of power and pelf, as well as of that intimate acquaintance with men and affairs necessary to a demagogue. Tweed is a man of vast executive talent and dispatch, as is shown by the innumerable offices which he fills, not only in the city government, but also in private corporations. He is interested in almost every large public or private enterprise in the city—as the East River Bridge, the Viaduct Railway, Broadway Improvement, and like jobs—while being also referee in numerous law cases, and sharer in fat contracts of all kinds.

His personal looks are known to every one, through Nast's portraiture. He is tall and fat with a frame indicative of vast force and endurance. He dresses plainly, is affable in his manners, and can be very pleasant when he chooses. Naturally, however, he is a man of no refinement, but of a strong animal nature. He makes no concealment of his acts; but calls a spade a spade, and openly admits that his only aim is personal gain and advancement.

He lives in a magnificent house on Fifth Avenue, whose stables alone are furnished in a manner to excite wonder. Besides this, he has a summer residence at Greenwich, Connecticut, fitted up with equal splendor, with a fine library, and a number of paintings by American artists; for this patriotic millionaire scorns to patronize other than native talent. He is generous to his friends, but implacable to his enemies. A good husband and father, he is yet celebrated for his licentiousness; and, while robbing the public treasury of millions, he is lavish in his charities, distributing $50,000 at one time to the poor of the city, when an election was near. His whole nature is gross—of the earth earthy; and he shows no signs of the higher qualities of the mind or heart.

Richard Connolly, familiarly known as "Slippery Dick," is notable for no special talent or individuality; but has simply been a ready tool in the hands of his more astute associates. He is a man of low origin, and essentially a parvenu. As Controller he has grown wealthy, as the real estate records of the city show. Without any personal pluck, and trembling at the attacks of the press, he is incapable of independent action, and relies now on the Committee of Seventy, as he did before on the other members of the Ring. Since being deserted by his confederates he has turned State's evidence, and may thus balance his evil deeds by exposing their trickery; in which case the public will allow his name to sink into merited oblivation.

A. Oakey Hall, Mayor of New York and ex-district attorney, presents a strange combination in his character. A politician, journalist, dramatist, lawyer, punster, and general Bohemian, he combines the shrewdness of a knave with the nimbleness of a mountebank. Whether he is altogether a sham, or whether his charlatanry is used merely for effect, it is hardly possible to say, but the world has seldom produced so adroit a buffoon and so silly a scoundrel. He may be ranked with Geo. Francis Train, the Count Joannes, Daniel Pratts, and James Fisk, Jr.; all of whose love of notoriety has addled their brains, and often leads them to the most grotesque and serio-comic actions.

A native of New York, Hall is of good family, and claims descent from one of Cromwell's colonels. He graduated from New York University, where he displayed proficiency in the classes, and spent part of the course at the Harvard Law School. He then went to New Orleans, and became a newspaper reporter, but soon left that position, to enter the law office of the famous Slidell, where he spent some time, but eventually came back to New York. And, after trying his hand at authorship, he founded the law firm of Brown, Hall & Vanderpool, of which he is still a member. He did not practice law, however; but left that to his partners, while he joined Sweeny as an Albany lobbyist. Through his exertions in creating the various commissions to whom most of our local government is delegated Hall secured a large amount of law business for his partners, and has thus become prosperous; though nothing like the riches which Tweed, Sweeny, and Connolly have got has fallen to his share. Originally he was a Republican and a violent Know-Nothing; but the prospect of advancement led him to betray his party, and he went over to Tammany, who rewarded his perfidy by making him district attorney. While in this position he earned an unenviable notoriety by forcing persons charged with crimes to perform political service to Tammany. Thousands of sentences were suspended, and the persons subject to to them allowed to go free, on this condition; and as a result the Ring have been able to compel unwillingly persons to do their will. At this time Hall lent himself so completely to the dirty work of his part as to earn the title from the World, in one of its moments of honest statement, of a "shameless corruptionist of the Ring," which sums up his character in a sentence.

He has personally the manners of a gentleman; and, excepting on St. Patrick's day, when he wears a green suit, his appearance is respectable. He is a good ex tempore speaker, and writes clearly and forcibly; though usually his literary talents are turned to base uses, and to making the worse appear the better reason. His reputation as a lawer is good. He is president of the Lotus Club, and likes to associate with the journalists and actors among its members. His ambition is for social standing, and his powers have been turned to accomplish this end, rather than to obtain wealth. There is nothing great or admirable about him, and he is simply a successful trickster.

The means by which the Ring has accomplished its ends have been patronage, combination, and political ability. Their control of the city government has given them all the municipal appointments, and thus added an army of officeholders to their adherents. Then by combination they have been able to resist and overcome opposition, whether from rivals, the press, or the public generally. Entrenched in the City Hall and other public offices, backed by their underlings at the polls, and protected by corrupt judges from any risk of punishment, they have carried on their frauds with an amazing effrontery and recklessness. They must be given the merit of having undoubted ability as plotters, wire-pullers, add to this the apathy and neglect of the community at large, and it is easy to account for the success of the Ring. Whether their reign is over, and the day of atonement reached, will soon be shown; but, if the reform party in New York succeed in overthrowing the four men we have sketched, and making them disgorge their ill-gotten gains, they will effect a result which will be memorable for all time to come.

"The Invisible Empire."

ASTONISHING DISCLOSURES—THE PRESIDENT'S MODE OF OBTAINING INFORMATION CONCERNING THE CONSPIRACY.

[Washington Telegram (Nov. 2d) to New York Herald.]

Attorney General Akerman had a long interview to-day with the Secretary of State and afterward with the President. The subject of the interviews was, of course, the everlasting Ku-Klux question, involving the punishment of the persons recently arrested in South Carolina, and perhaps the promulgation of a new proclamation. It was the original intention of the Government to follow up the suspension of the habeas corpus in the nine counties of South Carolina with a similar movement upon northern Georgia, and as most of the young men suspected of Ku-Klux affinities who ran away from the former State took up their abode in the latter, it is not improbable that they will be soon on the move once more.

Just at this moment it is a matter of great interest as to what the President knows or thinks he knows about the Ku Klux. It is asserted by those who ought to know, something of the character of the information communicated from time to time to the Executive that he has much more direct knowledge on this subject than even that possessed by the Congressional Committee. Gentlemen of high character, formerly officers in our army, who were and are even now living in the South, having learned through their supposed Democratic sympathies important facts relative to the secret purposes of this organization, have made him acquainted with the danger to its fullest extent. The officers of the United States Secret Service have been and still are very active in ferreting out the Klan. The danger to which they are exposed in this service renders it necessary that great caution be exercised in making their operations public. These officers are not known to each other, and as a consequence it often happens that the most efficient men are reported by others as being Ku Klux chiefs. It will be shown, when the facts all come out, that the Ku Klux in South Carolina have been largely furnished with arms from Northern sources. It is even asserted that an examination of the shipments from the arms manufacturing companies of the North, and especially of New York, for the last two years, will show a great activity in the Southern trade. It is the opinion of the administration and those who sustain its policy of repression that it is the design of the Invisible Empire to attempt the repossession by the old rebel element, first, of the several Southern States by the demoralization, through terror, outrage and murder, of the party sustaining reconstruction and its results, and, secondly, by similar means, but more general and systematic in character, to force every Southern State to vote against the Republican Presidential nominee, and thus restore to them control of their local and State affairs and the inauguration of their party associates in the Government. A contingency for which they have undoubtedly worked, is, in the event of Congress refusing to count electoral votes gained by such a palpable system of terror and violence as the Ku Klux will inaugurate, to at once raise the standard of revolution within the Union, declaring that the refusal is only a step in a prearranged plan to keep the power in the hands of the now dominant party. There is no doubt in the minds of the best informed persons here who have investigated the character and purposes of this conspiracy that such a design as that indicated is seriously contemplated. Opinions like these have influenced the course of the President toward South Carolina, and have led also to the doom which is now impending over Georgia. It is given out that the meaning of the supplementary proclamation, which is now in preparation, is to correct the blunder by which Union, county, South Carolina, was included in the repressive edict instead of Marion, but there is no doubt that the prediction in the Herald some days ago that Georgia was the next State in order will be verified in a day or two, and other sections will be treated in the same way, as the President thinks the occasion may require. Senator Scott is now here and at work, and he is as sternly in favor of strong measures as ever.

OREGON.

Taxes in Linn county are thirteen mills on the dollar.

It is said that a twenty thousand dollar brick hotel is to be erected at Albany next spring.

The river at Salem is rising rapidly, and from this time forward will be at a good boating stage.

A diminutive child has been born at Salem. When it was five days old a lady's finger ring was slipped upon its arm as far as the shoulder.

We give the following, without comment, from the Democratic organ at Salem: "The signs to our mind are hopeful and propitious for a glorious victory for the grand old Democratic party in 1872."

THE TERRITORIES.

The "First National Bank" of Helena, Montana, is now in operation. $90,000 of its bills are in circulation.

Col. W. Milnor Roberts, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railroad, has returned to Montana from the East.

To travel from Helena, Montana, to Omaha now costs only $70 currency. From Helena to Corinne fare is but $5. Cheaper than staying at home.

Montana is rapidly developing into an agricultural Territory, and now produces an abundance of cereals, vegetables, butter, &c., for her own consumption. She has a Territorial Agricultural Society and several county Societies.

The company designing to build a bed-rock flume in Moore's Creek below Idaho City, is fully organized. Two hundred thousand dollars of stock has been subscribed. A bill will be submitted to Congress asking for the right of way and the right to take timber from the public lands.

Chief Justice McKean states the issue with the Mormons as follows: "The Government of the United States, founded upon a written constitution, finds within its jurisdiction another Government, claiming to come from God—imperium in imperio—whose policy and practices are, in grave particulars, at variance with its own. The one Government arrests the other, in the person of its chief, and arraigns it at this bar. A system is on trial in the person of Brigham Young. Let all concerned keep this fact steadily in view; and let that Government rule without a rival, which shall prove to be in the right.

Prominent officials of the Union Pacific Railroad are in Washington seeking to ascertain definitely the policy of the Government in regard to the Mormon difficulties in Utah, etc. The company has intelligence from the Territory that if the prosecutions and convictions continue there is danger that the Mormons may desert their present city and perhaps venture upon measures of retaliation, in which case the railroad would certainly suffer severely. A recent letter from a prominent Republican in Utah expresses the belief that the Mormons in the last extremity will appeal to arms rather than submit to the judgment of the Courts. They are able to put an army of 10,000 in the field on the shortest notice. We imagine, however, that they will think twice before venturing into so dangerous an experiment.

The New York Herald thinks it an "important discovery" by a Democratic contemporary that Tweed's Senatorial district "is the most loathsome political scab in the United States," and that "Tweed is a fit representative of this loathsome scab in our body politic." This is strange music from a Democratic organ touching the district which gave the vote of the Empire State to Horatio Seymour for President in 1868.

Napoleon at Sedan.

PAUL DE CASSAGNAC'S ACCOUNT OF HIS CONDUCT THERE.

The Gaulois publishes a long letter from M. Paul de Cassagnac in defense of the ex-Emperor at Sedan, of which the following are extracts:

At eleven o'clock in the morning the battle was lost. Penned up, and led like so many sheep in ravines and hollows, without any order, food or ammunition, without a plan, pounded incessantly of 4,000 and 5,000 metres, surrounded by 400,000 men, who kept behind their guns, protected from our bullets and bayonets, we found ourselves forced back into the town. I had the grief of witnessing the preliminaries and the conclusion of the capitulation. Philippe de Massa, Lauriston, and I were sobbing in front of the room where our dishonor was signed. Well, what was the Emperor's conduct, before, during, and after the battle? Before the capitulation he was not in command, and did not give a single order. Marshal McMahon is too honest not to admit that. Accepting to the bitter end the melancholy part of a parliamentary sovereign (!), the Emperor was present, but took no directing part. Since the 19th of January he was like a bullock stunned by the butcher's poleax; he tottered on until he fell at Sedan. No longer having the right of interfering in anything, he went about the battlefield, escorted by a few friends, displaying admirable but barren courage.

After the battle he remained unchanged, retaining his neutral attitude—that position which is called parliamentary, but which means nothing but impotence and abdication. Then the Emperor committed the blunder—the enormous blunder of meddling with a capitulation which concerned others than himself—those who had so madly led us to the shambles. Seized with deep commiseration for this army, prostrate while yet alive in this huge graveyard, he did what—no matter who was about to be compelled to do—he gave orders to hoist the white flag. For ignorant and impassioned people that was quite sufficient. Everything was thrown on his shoulders, and he became the scapegoat laden with the want of skill of McMahon, the insane rashness of Wimpffen, the want of foresight of the commissariat, all the iniquities of the cowards, the incapables, and the traitors—he was driven from [illegible] to [illegible] from Cassel to Chislehurst. Had he stuck to his part, and not meddled with anything; is he had allowed an additional 40,000 men to perish beneath the crumbling walls of Sedan, he would not now bear the burden of a capitulation for which he may be responsible, but which cannot in any way be imputed to him as a crime.

ON

DISEASE [illegible] TO CONSUMPTION.

This is a chronic affection of the mucous membrane of the nostrils or the throat, originating in irritation or inflammation, and attended by more or less discharge. It is one of the most common, most disgusting, and finally, most destructive of disease [illegible] to the variable climate of our northern latitude.

In its early stages catarrh often fails to attract the patient's attention, so insidious is its approach. This is an unfortunate circumstance, because the most favorable period for treatment is thus unimproved, and because of the peculiar disposition of this disease to extend upward to the frontal sinuses, backward through the Eustachian tubes to the middle ears, and down through the larynx, trachea, and bronchia, to the air-cells of the lungs.

The discharge from the affected part is at first a clear fluid, which may [illegible] vation, unless it chance to be of a more than usually acrid character. As time goes on this gives place to a fluid that is thicker, and of a yellowish green color, and still later this may be succeeded by thick flakes or scales.

In all the more advanced stages the discharges are generally of an offensive odor, causing great annoyance to one's friends and to the [illegible], while his [illegible] of smell remains. This annoyance from the odor becomes almost beyond endurance, [illegible] happens, the delicate bones of the nose become [illegible].

Some cases early [illegible] the character of Dry Catarrh. There is then a feeling of [illegible], heat and stiffness in the nostrils, which are often (one or both of them) closed by thickening of the mucous membrane, and thus a difficulty of breathing becomes a prominent symptom.

On examining the nostrils in Chronic Catarrh, with instruments specially adapted to that purpose, we find their lining membrane thickened and of a deeper color than in health. There are seen little points of ulceration, upon which the secretion becomes hardened and [illegible]. When these are picked off the [illegible] surface is irritated, and frequently bleeds profusely.

In each case of Catarrh the prominent symptoms are determined by the direction in which the disease extends. If this be upward there may be pain over and between the eyes, obstruction of the lachrymal ducts, causing the tears to flow over the cheeks, and possibly opthalmic inflammation of the eyes. If backward, there will be thickening of the walls of the Eustachian tubes, and consequent tendency to their obstruction, inflammation of the middle ear, buzzing sounds in the head, and impairment of hearing. When the extension is downward, the voice becomes hoarse or whispering and [illegible] cough come on, with [illegible] to be followed too often by Consumption and Death.

In cases where the bones of the nose [illegible] not only is the offensiveness of the breath [illegible], but there is a liability to serious personal deformities, among which are flattening of the nose.

The swallowing of catarrhal secretions deranges the functions of the stomach, causing indigestion and loss of appetite. Debility, pal[illegible], lassitude, headache and disturbance of mind soon follow. In some instances the mental affection is one of irritability, the patient being unduly annoyed by all the little perplexities of life. In others, the prominent feeling is that of the melancholy or depression of spirits, when the invalid can see no hope for himself or his affairs.

Allusion has been made to the extension of Catarrh by continuity of surface along the natural air [illegible] to the substance of the lungs, thus causing Consumption and Death. In this connection it should also be remembered that the air which enters the lungs of a catarrhal patient is, every breath of it, poisoned by exhalations from the foul secretions of the diseased surface. By such air the blood cannot be properly purified and made fit to impart healthy vigor in its unending circuit to all and every part of the animal mechanism. One would suppose that this consideration alone would be sufficient to induce every person thus afflicted to make early application for relief.

The treatment of Catarrh is in part constitutional, whereby the [illegible] of the whole [illegible] aid in expelling its destructive enemy. It is in part local, whereby the discharge is made less offensive, diminished and finally arrested, and whereby the [illegible] surface is healed and restored to its normal condition.

By means of new and ingenious apparatus, Dr. Aborn is able in Catarrh and all other affections of the respiratory organs, to apply his remedies directly to the desired localities. Treatment is thus made more efficient as well as less disagreeable. In many cases the first application of the topical treatment will change the character of the disease and materially purify the breath.

STILL ANOTHER REMARKABLE CURE

A PATIENT GAINS 15½ POUNDS AND RECOVERS HIS HEALTH IN FOUR WEEKS TIME UNDER THE SKILLFUL TREATMENT OF DR. ABORN.

This is to certify that I have been afflicted for three years, and that I kept declining slowly until the latter part of last May, when I was taken down suddenly, since which time, as before, I could get no relief. My disease baffled the skill of every attempt, and only left me weaker, until death would have been a relief at times. Four weeks ago to-night I placed myself under the care of Dr. Aborn, whose treatment gave me immediate relief, and I continued to gain so rapidly until now, after using his medicine only four weeks, I have gained fifteen and one-half pounds, and feel like a new man.

Yours truly, JAMES H. OGLESBY.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 15, 1871.

A Better Memory Needed.

We trouble our readers with the following extract from the Herald, giving it in full that we may the better show up that paper's style of putting things:

> On Monday morning, after the appearance of our article of the morning before on the subject of the railroad meeting and the memorial for the land grant, a friend offered to bet us that the OREGONIAN would come out and say that we were opposed to the land grant contemplated. We told him it could not possibly do that, for we had expressly stated the contrary. "That's true," said he, "but that don't matter; mark what I tell you; that very thing will be done." We could not believe it possible that any man who has any pretensions to truth and candor could do such a thing. Judge of our surprise, then, when opening the OREGONIAN of Tuesday morning, we found this sentence:
>
> That paper (Herald) is very unfriendly to such grants.
> We give it up. Our friend knew the character of the journal of which he spoke better than we did. But we are learning.

While you are learning, it is a pity you could not learn the ninth commandment. Also that you could not learn to remember your repeated declarations through your own columns for months past. We purpose here and now to repel the insinuation that we have misrepresented the Herald in this matter, and what is more, we shall prove our position by extracts from the Herald itself. That paper, we remarked, is "quite unfriendly" to such grants as that asked for in behalf of the Portland and Salt Lake railroad. Here we prove it.

The Herald during the last three months has repeatedly condemned the policy of grants to railroads. It has characterized that policy as totally wrong. The first article the present editor wrote after assuming the position he now occupies, contained severe censure of the Government for its grants to the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railways.

But we shall be more explicit. On the 14th September last the Herald, in an article condemning the general policy of the Republican party said:

> Here monopoly is fostered by Congressional legislation and gigantic corporations are clothed with power to levy contributions upon the people without limitation, and to swallow down the public lands which should be the inheritance of the people, by tens of millions of acres at a time.

Again, in its issue of the 7th November, the Herald denounced the grants to the Union, Central and Northern Pacific railroads. Speaking of the grant to the latter it said:

> An empire of land is given away to a "ring," who are to build a railroad by selling the people's land, donated by the General Government, and when it is so built, this "ring" is to manage it solely for its own aggrandizement.

The memorial adopted at the meeting at the Court House last Friday evening asks for a grant of the same amount of land per mile as that granted to the Northern Pacific and other roads. Now, when the reader has finished the extracts from the Herald which we have given above, let him answer whether we were not entirely correct in saying that that paper is "quite unfriendly" to such grants? In making this remark we stated only the exact truth, as the files of the Herald [illegible]. That paper has strongly censured all our great railroad grants, and has especially opposed this one for the Portland and Salt Lake road, in the shape in which it is now presented. Again, we ask, were we not exactly correct in remarking that that paper is "quite unfriendly to such grants?" Could we have said anything else consistently with truth? A paper—that has no established principles should have a better memory than the Herald is blessed with.

Assuming a Virtue.

It is edifying to observe how many "organs" there are which never said one word in condemnation of Tammany's thefts before the recent elections, which now, since Tammany is defeated, can find no words sufficiently strong to express their detestation of Tammany. Talking of the result of the election that resulted in Tammany's overthrow, these "organs," which had been hoping for Tammany's success, and refused to breathe a word against Tammany's conduct, all cry out, "Well, done! The thieves are rebuked! Now let the people rebuke the Radical thieves at Washington as they have the Tammany thieves at New York! Turn Radicals out of the National Government and put Democrats in!"

It is, we take it, rather a singular argument to urge, that, because Democrats have been beaten in New York for their enormous public thefts, they should therefore be installed in power at Washington. It takes Democratic cheek to propose a thing of this kind. The thefts at New York so far exceed everything heretofore known, that they have become a subject of comment all over the world. And now the party that produced Tammany, accepted its leadership, worked for its success and refused to denounce it until it had been beaten, implore the country to turn the National Government over to their keeping. If that party developed a Tammany in New York what would it develop at Washington?

That occasional embezzlement and thefts occur under the Federal Administration no Republican denies. No attempt is made by the Administration to conceal them when they occur. Every case is immediately made known to the country, and the parties are at once dealt with according to their deserts. They are not kept in office, but in every case are promptly dismissed; and where their offences are flagrant they are punished with corresponding severity. No method has yet been devised to utterly prevent public officers from dishonest acts. In spite every precaution some cases of embezzlement and theft will occur. They have occurred under all Administrations, and were as notorious under Jackson and other Democratic Presidents as they have ever been since, not excepting even the corrupt period of Andrew Johnson's Administration. We do not mention these things as any excuse for the delinquency of Republican officials nowdays, but only to emphasize the melancholy fact that no perfect remedy has yet been found against malversation in office. In general a party must be judged by the result of its efforts to secure an honest administration of public affairs. Judging both parties in this way, the people do not hesitate to pronounce in favor of the Republicans. It is not pretended that the Republican party commits no wrongs and that it has nothing to answer for; but it has never been guilty of an one-hundredth part of the iniquities perpetrated by the other party and lately brought to light in New York. It has no Tweeds, and if it had, it would not re-elect them after their crimes were known.

Several Democratic papers are talking of the danger that liberty will be overthrown and an empire established. The Washington Chronicle rightly thinks that the only empire that now threatens the peace of the country is the "Invisible Empire" of the Ku-Klux.

Says the New York Tribune: "Mr. Boutwell was able to report a reduction of our national debt by more than thirteen millions in September, and he reports a further reduction of nearly nine millions in October. The full amount of reduction since General Grant's inauguration is $263,755,812, or more than one hundred millions per annum. Should we continue to pay as we have thus far paid since the incoming of this administration, the debt would be utterly extinguished within the next twenty years. As it is, the annual interest or burden of the debt is diminished by at least fifteen millions since General Grant became President. These are cheerful figures."

Says the Herald: "The OREGONIAN is considerably exercised because we denounce the frauds and rascalities of the Tammany ring of New York." By no means; we simply remarked upon the fact that the Herald never uttered one word of denunciation of Tammany until Tammany was utterly defeated and overthrown. Then all of a sudden it began to denounce Tammany. Its course shows plainly enough that if Tammany had succeeded in the election it would not only have been silent about its "frauds and rascalities," but would even have boasted of the ring's success as a magnificent Democratic victory.

The New York Evening Mail remarks that the removal of ex-Congressman Stokes from the office of Supervisor of Internal Revenue for Tennessee, for alleged complicity with bounty frauds, is indicative of the prompt and forcible manner in which the present administration intends to deal with official swindlers whenever their offences become tangible.

Rival Policies.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company holds out these inducements to settlers and cultivators along the line of their road: "That any person may settle upon and improve these lands of the company before they are brought into market, and as soon as they are appraised and ready for sale, they may have the first privilege of purchasing upon the regular terms of sale and at the regular prices of such lands, which prices will be fixed without reference to the improvements." The inference is that there will be no rent charges against the settlers, and that the company desires to encourage settlement and cultivation as a means of increasing the legitimate traffic of the road. A like arrangement in this State in favor of actual settlers and cultivators along the lines of the California and Oregon and Southern Pacific of California, would greatly augment the carrying trade of those roads. The policy of the Northern Pacific Railroad appears to be to confine itself to the legitimate business of making money through the greatest and quickest development of the resources of the country whose trade it is to carry. The policy of our California railway managers has so far been to make money by squeezing the counties for subsidy and by speculations in land, regardless of the development of the country or the interest of producers. The first policy tends to the creation of prosperous towns, cities and farms; the last to the building up of an aristocracy of wealth at the expense of the general welfare. If the two systems continue it will not take ten years after the completion of the Northern Pacific till Puget Sound will handle more commerce than San Francisco bay, and Oregon and Washington exceed California in population, wealth and enterprise.

An up town New York dentist will stump the country this winter with a lecture showing the advantages of having natural teeth extracted and unnatural ones put in. We hope the makers of artificial limbs will not feel called upon to emulate this advertising dodge.

A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT.—Be it known to the People of Portland and the surrounding country, that at the extensive clothing establishment of Kohn & Fishel, 91 Front street, they are selling new and stylish suits for Fall and Winter wear at prices that are astonishingly low. Call at this House and examine the large stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. You will come away suited.

THE FINAL REPORT OF THE U. S. GRAND JURY has not been made, but all sorts of rumors are prevalent, and one especially, affecting the business prospects of one of our most enterprising merchants. It is currently reported that at a special meeting of the Jurors a sort of love feast was had, and each told his experiences and of the things he had seen in Portland. The general impression was, that so far as their outward appearances were concerned, they could not be better improved than by donning some of the fashionably cut clothing for sale at Barman's. It was therefore unanimously resolved that all purchases of clothing and gents furnishing goods be made at the above named establishment, corner of Washington and Front streets.

TESTIMONIAL.

We the undersigned having been the recipients of the services of Mrs. M. C. White in teaching the science of Music on the Pianoforte, take pleasure in giving a hearty testimonial that we have employed her in our families as a teacher of her "New Method of Instruction," and that it has proven superior to any method we have ever known. And that although the first cost may be a trifle greater than some others, we believe it to be in the aggregate much cheaper, beside being a great economy in point of time. We, therefore, take pleasure in recommending her to the patronage of all who may be desirous of obtaining a musical education, as a very superior instructor.

To those who desire to know more about it before increasing any expense, we give a cordial invitation to call at our homes and interview her pupils.

I know it to be by far the best light we have ever used in our family. I know of nothing that can compare with it. I prefer it to any gas burner I have ever seen. For safety, for economy, and for the perfection of the light, it deserves to come into universal use.

AN UNPREJUDICED PHYSICIAN
INTERVIEWED.
Bold Opinions Truly Expressed.

POPULARITY IS NOT ALWAYS A proof of desert. Every newspaper man knows that. Many articles are engineered into temporary popularity that have no intrinsic merit whatever. It is an easy thing to make sweeping assertions and sow them broadcast in the columns of the public press. But there is a class of experienced and thoughtful birds not to be caught with chaff, like Captain Cattle, they want "an opinion as is an opinion," in other words, the judgment of competent and disinterested authority, as a basis for their own.

Several of these cautious individuals having done us the honor to invite an expression of opinion in these columns on the properties of the much talked of Tonic known as PLANTATION BITTERS, we have taken the pains to obtain from a distinguished physician whose ability and integrity of purpose no one will venture to question, what may fairly be deemed a conclusive answer to the questions of our correspondents. Dr. Elias Kennedy Whitmarsh, as a surgeon, pathologist and chemist, has few superiors west of the Alleghanies, and the following conversation which occurred a few days ago between that gentleman and one of our staff, is offered, without comment, for the information of "whom it may concern:"

REPORTER.—Have you any objection to state your views in relation to a medicinal preparation which has obtained great celebrity in this country? The object is to ascertain whether the reputation is deserved or not.

DR. WHITMARSH—If I know anything about the article, I'll tell you what I think of it. How is it named?

REPORTER—PLANTATION BITTERS.

DR. WHITMARSH—Well, it is a wholesome vegetable tonic.

REPORTER—Anything else?

WHITMARSH—Yes, it has a mild aperient property, and produces a salutary effect upon the liver when that organ is diseased.

REPORTER—It contains alcohol I understand—Santa Croix Rum.

DR. WHITMARSH—Of course it contains a diffusive stimulant. If it did not its medicinal ingredients would be comparatively inert. They are rendered operative by the alcoholic principle.

REPORTER—Supposing that theory to be correct, is Santa Croix Rum a good article for that purpose?

DR. WHITMARSH—The best I think. It is more nutricious and far less exciting than the spirits made from grapes or grain.

REPORTER—But are stimulants really necessary at all in medical treatment?

DR. WHITMARSH—Sir, if you had ever practiced medicine you would not ask the question. They are an essential portion of the materia medica. Every intelligent member of the profession knows that. The physician who denies it is either a hypocrite or a fool.

REPORTER—Do you consider a medicated stimulant like the PLANTATION BITTERS preferable to simple alcohol? In other words, would the Santa Croix Rum be as useful without the other ingredients as with them?

DR. WHITMARSH—Certainly not. Among those ingredients are Extract of Dandelion, one of the finest antibilious medicines I know of; Calisaya Bark, of all tonics the best; and Chamomile, an admirable stomachic. The remedial powers of these curatives is increased probably tenfold by the nutritive stimulant with which they are incorporated.

REPORTER—You seem to have a high opinion of the Bitters.

DR. WHITMARSH—I simply state facts, sir. You must draw your own conclusions.

REPORTER—May I ask if you ever prescribed PLANTATION BITTERS for your patients?

DR. WHITMARSH—I do, frequently. All that I have said to you is founded on my own experience. I never make positive statements on unsubstantial grounds.

REPORTER—I am sure of that. Excuse me for having trespassed so long on your valuable time. Good evening.

We presume the correspondents who have addressed us on the subject of PLANTATION BITTERS, will consider their questions satisfactorily answered by the remarks of Dr. Whitmarsh.

CITY.

Miss Anthony's Lecture.—The announcement that Miss Anthony would deliver her farewell lecture last night in the Oro Fino Theater, drew together quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen. She was introduced to the audience by Mrs. Williams, an old Eastern acquaintance. Miss Anthony spoke of traveling over our valleys, across the mountains and foot-hills, viewing our beautiful scenery and snow-capped peaks. She stated she had been in our State and the adjoining Territory of Washington seventy-five days; had spoken fifty times, which was only a repetition of the past twenty years of her lecturing experience. She traced the woman's rights movement from its first inception to the present time and then reiterated all the arguments heretofore adduced in its favor, but with much less force than her reputation led many to believe she might do it. In one or two instances she apparently contradicted herself. She paid her respects to Col. Taggart for having the audacity to advise women to tell women, in his address at the State Fair in Salem, "to make home pleasant and to lead men to lives of sobriety and virtue." After finishing her address she asked if anyone wished to ask her questions. Judge Thornton asked, if a man or woman, after marriage, find they have committed a blunder, was she in favor of having the marital ties dissolved? which was answered to her satisfaction, but not to the Judges, who so stated; upon which she asked him to state his position. He replied, that no one has a right to dissolve the marriage relation except for adultery, and only separation without the dissolution of the marriage relation for anything else. She admitted that she did not know the law on that point. After some further remarks, she thanked the audience and gracefully retired.

What They Are Going to Do.—The woman suffragists being still decidedly on the war-path, it becomes a matter of some interest to know what they are going to do, beside simply agitating themselves. We know that Miss Anthony is going East, and we have her oft-repeated promise that she never, never, never will go back on woman suffrage, nor let up on the "agitation" business till man shall admit woman to share-and-share not only in the elective franchise, but various and sundry other rights now under masculine monopoly. We suppose she will, therefore, go to Washington and lead the charge of the strong-minded upon the honorable, franchise-monopolizing members of Congress. We see that Mrs. Laura De Force Gordon, of California, is also going to Washington to aid in thrusting "the cause" under the noses of the rulers. In a recent speech at San Francisco, she said she had recently received a letter from the Secretary of the "National Woman Suffrage Committee, urging immediate action; and she was going into action immediately." It was proposed, she said, to center all possible power on Congress at its coming session, to induce it to pass an Act enfranchising women under the Fourteenth Amendment. It is further proposed to circulate petitions among the women of America (not of the period) for presentation to Congress. So it will be seen that the battleground will soon be transferred from the hustings to the Capital.

The Street Lights.—In the name of all belated pedestrians we ask what is the good of paying seven or eight hundred dollars a month for the wretched burlesques upon street lights that we have in this city? The authorities should either cause the lights to be turned on or turned off. As they are, on any dark night they only serve to neutralize the few rays of star light which force themselves through the dense black clouds, and to mix things in the most uncertain confusion of star-light, lamp-light and pitchy darkness. Positively the night pedestrians would be better off without them, so far as all the streets back of Second are concerned. Let any one who doubts it try it. Most of the lamps are so feebly lit that they only serve to distinguish objects in their immediate vicinity, and over all the rest of the streets the light is too uncertain to enable a person to tell whether the shapes he sees are material things or shadows or only phantasies of the brain born of doubt and darkness. Really, if there were no lamps at all the eyes would in a few moments become accustomed to the darkness and the walker would see things with more certainty than as now with the aid (!) of the feebly flickering street lamps. The Council should either abolish them or require the contractors to furnish better lights.

Railroad Memorial.—Col. Chapman, who started yesterday morning for Washington, took with him the copies of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad memorial which have been in circulation since last Friday evening. They contained over one thousand names, among them the greater number of our most influential and substantial citizens and business men. Other copies will, however, be circulated here for the purpose of obtaining the names of such persons as were not met with in the hurried work of the canvassers, and who may wish to add their voices in aid of this very important enterprise. Col. Chapman will see the people of the Dalles, Umatilla, La Grand, Boise City, and other towns on the route to Salt Lake, and will doubtless procure very many additional names. Every man interested in the future of Portland or Eastern Oregon Idaho, should give his name to the memorial; for no enterprise ever mooted on the coast could bring more substantial benefits to the sections named than the building of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

The Steamers Due.—There is already some uneasiness about the non-arrival of the John L. Stephens, which was at noon yesterday five full days out from San Francisco, bound for this port. It is known that during Sunday night and Monday there was an unusually severe storm along the coast, and, whether there be any good reasons for it or not, there seems to be in the public mind more distrust of the seaworthiness of the Stephens than of any other steamer visiting this port. We do not, however, attach much importance to such distrust, because such things frequently arise from no good cause. In rough weather it is not uncommon that the steamers are out one, two, or even three, days over the average time, and yet come in all right. We put it up that the Stephens has been simply standing off the mouth of the river, on account of a very rough bar. The steamer California is still at Victoria. A gentleman who arrived from that city via Olympia, a day or two since, expresses the opinion that she is likely to stay there for a week or ten days yet.

Accident to the "Mila Bond."—We are indebted to Mr. H. Boyd for the following information in relation to an accident to the schooner Mila Bond, at the mouth of Tillamook harbor, on Monday, the 6th inst. The Mila Bond, Captain Paul Corno, attempting to cross the bar was caught in the breakers, by which her cabin (a new one put on last summer, at this city,) was carried away; her wheel was broken and tillers parted. Captain Corno himself was washed into the lee scuppers. There were two passengers on board, and it was by their efficient aid and coolness, principally, that the vessel was not lost. At the writing of the letter received by Mr. Boyd, the schooner was beached in the harbor and undergoing repairs.

The Storm at the Mouth of the Columbia.—A gentleman who came up last evening from Astoria by the John L. Stephens, informs us that the storm of Sunday was the severest known for many years. The water was driven in by the force of the storm so as to submerge the wharves and all the lower streets of the town. At Ft. Stevens, where our informant was on Sunday, the water flowed clear up to the glacis of the fort, and entirely destroyed the road leading from the fort. At Cape Disappointment, the road in front of the garrison was destroyed, the damage in this and other respects amounting to not less than $5,000.

Additions to the Relief Funds.—Mayor Wasserman acknowledges the receipt of the following further contributions to the relief funds of Chicago, Wisconsin and Michigan: W. W. Chapman, $20; John Atwood, $5; Lutheran Church, (for Wisconsin), $35 50; citizens of Hillsboro, $65 50; McMinnville, $10 coin and $15 currency.

Even the Hens!—In these days of female suffragists, women's rightists, and all that, even the hens have been led away from duty and to the neglect of their regular business; eggs are up to 65 cents per dozen and domestic women are in despair.

Another Juvenile Fair.—There will be held a children's fair at the Unitarian Church next Tuesday evening, the 21st inst., the proceeds of which is to replenish their Sunday School library.

Personal to Visitors.—Miss Anthony invites all friends to call on her at her rooms in the St. Charles hotel to-day, as she leaves overland for California by to-morrow's train.

COMMON COUNCIL.

REGULAR MEETING, NOV. 15, 1871.

Present, His Honor Mayor Wasserman, and Councilmen Besser, Bills, Burton, Caywood, Combs, Congle and Moffett.

ABOUT AN ABSENTING COUNCILMAN.

The Mayor stated that his attention had been called to the article in the charter in regard to absent members and the vacation of seats for absence without leave; and said that his attention had been so called in connection with the absence of Mr. Besser.

Mr. Besser, who was present, said that he understood the charter to provide that a seat might be declared vacant for absence without leave for six successive meetings. He had been absent, as he reckoned only five nights.

The Mayor asked the Auditor and Clerk what the record shows.

The Auditor upon consulting the record said Mr. Besser was present at the meeting on September 27th; that since that date there had been four meetings, at two regular nights of meeting at which no quorum was present—Mr. Besser's name not appearing among those answering to roll call.

No action was, however, taken and the business of the Council proceeded.

VETO OF AN ORDINANCE.

A message from the Mayor was read vetoing an ordinance to approve the report of the surveyor in the matter of the extension of B street, on the ground of informality.

A vote being taken the ordinance was lost, by ayes, none; nays, 5.

COMMUNICATION FROM REAL ESTATE AGENTS.

A communication from Messrs. Stitzel & Upton; Russell, Ferry & Woodward; Rider, Moskowitz & Risley; and DeLashmutt & Burch, was received and referred to the Committee on Judiciary. It recites that the Board of Real Estate Agents has recently paid the sum of $300 for Prize Essays descriptive of the natural resources of the State of Oregon, and the inducements it holds out to the industrious and deserving emigrants from other States and countries; that it is believed the publication and proper distribution of these essays would greatly benefit Portland and the State; and asking that the city appropriate such sum—say $1000—as may be necessary to print 15,000 copies of the Prize Essays for General distribution at the East and in foreign countries. The agents propose in such case to faithfully distribute such documents at their own expense.

PETITIONS.

A petition was received from Joseph Knott for leave to improve a road at his own expense across the levee between the foot of Columbia and Clay streets—referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

From C. M. Carter and others for the improvement of Fourth street from Main to Stark—referred to same committee.

From O. E. Calef and others, for a lamp at the corner of Ninth and Main—referred to same committee.

From W. W. Piper and others, for a fire cistern at intersection of Washington and Tenth streets—referred to Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer.

From J. L. Daly and others, for the grading of Caruthers street east of Front—referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Building permits were asked for and granted, to A. A. Williams and J. R. Thompson.

From John P. Walker, for the repayment of the surplus arising from the sale of two lots belonging to him for delinquent taxes, granted.

From Lloyd Brooke and others, a remonstrance extending the time for the completion of the improvement of Mill at Eighth street. Referred to Committee on Streets, etc.

A COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHIEF ENGINEER was received, recommending the planting of a fire hydrant at the corner of Harrison and Sixth streets. Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were ordered paid: Mellen & Taylor, fire wood, $30 50; Frank Nusom, scavenging, $17; W. Jackson & Co., wicking, $2 25; P. D. & H. Co., hauling, $1; C. Huntington, repairing cistern, $12 25; J. B. Congle & Co., repairing to hose, $4; A. Daugherty, hauling, $1; George L. Hibbard & Co., oil, etc., $23 60; Corbett, Failing & Co., tools, $5 25; O. B. Upton, clerical services, $65; Police Commissioners—(Hallock, $27; Blanchard, $15; Burke, $15)—$57; Philip Herning, ice, $46; J. B. Congle & Co., sundries, $3; Henry L. Pittock, advertising, $27 22; Oregon Herald, advertising, $94 87; E. Barton, street contract, $731 30; W. H. Butts, street contract, $971 50; A. Hamilton, street contract, $108 03.

ORDINANCES INTRODUCED.

An ordinance to establish the grade of North Front at N street. Read three times and passed.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the general fund to pay the damages allowed by the viewers of the extension of Main street—$500—read three times and passed.

An ordinance to regulate the storage and sale of gun powder and other explosive materials, was read three times and passed.

ENGROSSED ORDINANCE READ.

The ordinance fixing the salary of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department—read third time and lost—yeas, Mr. Besser; nays, all the others present.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Directing the Committee on Streets and Public Property to report a plan for proper drainage of College and other streets in that neighborhood.

Authorising notice of the improvement of South Third street from Caruthers to Sheridan.

Authorising notice of improvement of F street from North Second to North Sixteenth streets.

The Council adjourned.

THE COURTS.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 15, 1871.

Circuit Court—Upton, Judge.—F. M. Arnold vs J. P. O. Lownsdale, et al; guardians ad litem appointed for minors and default entered against adults.

D. F. Stimson vs Estes & Stimson; order discharging receiver.

Eugene Langrey vs J. P. O. Lownsdale et al; order of service by publication.

Hayden, Smith & Co. vs Carter & Besser; trial concluded and verdict for defendant.

Charles Brennen vs Bridget Brennen; action dismissed.

C. W. Knowles, juror, excused till Monday next.

Nathan Williams vs L. M. Starr; dismissed on plaintiff's motion.

Dean & Bro. vs Caples & Moreland; on trial; testimony closed.

State of Oregon vs Geo. Upton and David Upton; charge, larceny of a horse; Grand Jury returned "not a true bill," and on motion of District Attorney bond exonerated.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The contractor for the erection of the Police Court House is digging a well on the premises.

The Puget Sound Land Company has concluded not to sell any more lands this winter.

Col. Hooker, General Superintendent of the Oregon and California Stage Company, is on a visit to this city.

One hundred and fifty of the East Portlanders signed the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad memorial.

A petition is in circulation asking for the removal of the macadamized road toll-gate, further out on the road.

A cotemporary announces the withdrawal of the steamer Constantine from the Portland trade. New and sensational.

Predictions of good weather which we occasionally hear, do not come from either the oldest inhabitant or the weather-wise-man.

The Pixley Sisters are not organizing a dramatic troupe, and they are not going on a tour dramatic.

The Bulletin charges the criminal expenses of this country mostly to the lager-beer cellars and female beer-slinging talent.

Relief Funds.—Yesterday Mayor Wasserman sent by letter a check on the Manufacturers' National Bank for $500 to Hon. Alexander Mitchell, Treasurer of the Relief Fund, Milwaukee, for the Wisconsin sufferers by fire. He also sent a similar letter with a check for $500 to Henry P. Baldwin, Governor of Michigan, for the sufferers by fire in that State. Mr. Wasserman is just in receipt of a letter acknowledging the receipt of $500 for which he had been authorized by telegraph to draw on the Manufacturers' National Bank of Chicago. We quote the text of Governor Baldwin's letter: "Allow me to express to yourself and to the people of your city my warmest thanks for their kind remembrance of our suffering people by their generous contribution of one thousand dollars for the relief of the sufferers, for which amount I have, as instructed by the President, this day drawn on the Manufacturers' National Bank of Chicago. Surely, we are one great brotherhood, and our thanks are due to every portion of our great country for their spontaneous contributions for our afflicted people."

ARRIVAL OF THE JOHN L. STEPHENS.

TERRIFIC STORM AT SEA—THE SHIP LOSES WHEEL HOUSES AND GUARDS—TESTIMONIAL TO THE CAPTAIN.

The doubts about the safety of the steamship John L. Stephens were solved last evening at half past eight o'clock by her arrival at this port, unannounced by the telegraph. Mr. B. P. Cardwell, a passenger, informs us that on Sunday morning, when off the coast of Northern California, the ship was caught in a violent storm of wind, which continued without cessation through that day and the following night, and without more than a slight abatement till Wednesday morning. The sea was lashed into fury, and the steamer was tossed about like a plaything. Breaking seas carried away her wheel houses, portions of the guards and damaged the top houses. Passengers were in much alarm and terribly seasick. The Captain and officers and crew were, however, constantly vigilant, and through their seamanship only, as the passengers believe, was the ship brought safely into port. She arrived off the bar on Tuesday, but the Captain would not attempt the dangers of the bar, which was fearfully rough, until yesterday morning when steamed he in, safely, though the bar was yet exceedingly rough. Mr. Cardwell says that whoever does not believe in the ability of the steamship John L. Stephens to ride out the storm, does not know her. The ship behaved well indeed, and he believes that no unseaworthy craft could have lived through her trials. Her wheel-houses were broken up, portions of the guards were torn off, and other slighter damages were received from seas which struck with a shock like striking upon solid rock. The passengers, gratified for their safe arrival, volunteered the following

TESTIMONIAL TO CAPTAIN FLOYD:

On Board Steamship John L. Stephens,
Off Columbia river, Wednesday morning,
November 15th, 1871.

Whereas, Recognizing the perils and dangers of the past few days which we have undergone, and the able and skillful management of the said steamship during a severe and trying storm (commencing on Sunday morning, November 12th, and lasting until Wednesday morning, Nov. 15th—off the coasts of Oregon and California) by our most excellent and devoted officers and crew, who by their prompt action and attention to duty have safely controlled and brought the said steamship with its passengers through the above described storm; now we, the undersigned passengers, do agree, and mostly heartily do we affix our names to the following resolution:

Resolved, That our thanks be, and are hereby given to our most noble, brave and kind hearted captain, R. S. Floyd, for the unflinching courage and devotedness to duty displayed by him in times of severe trial and danger; for his able and skillful management of our steamer during such a storm; not seeking any rest from Sunday morning until Wednesday morning, but ever standing at his post. And further

Resolved, That our thanks be, and are hereby given to the pilot, Daniel Graham, for piloting us safely into the port of Astoria; also, the several mates, and the crew, for their unflinching courage and prompt obedience to orders. (Signed.)

Geo. P. Ihrie, S. D. Holmes, B. P. Cardwell, L. Hulin, Richard H. Wise, T. D. Henderson, Mrs. Geo. P. Ihrie, Mrs. M. Bell Holmes, Mrs. Abbie Cardwell, Mrs. J. Lufkin, Mrs. Francis Winch, Miss A. Loomis, Mrs. M. W. Smith, Mrs. Lucy A. Forbes, Mrs. Bettie L. Jackson, Emily C. Filkin, W. H. Roberts, Miss M. C. Shomand, Samuel Ackley, L. C. Millard, William Woodbury, Frances Livingston, A. P. Stewart, H. E. Pope, T. W. Jackson, J. R. Filkin, Henry W. Winche, Eugene C. Filbin, T. J. Goodyear, Charles P. Brown, A. F. Forbes, James Forbes, James Cameron, L. B. Elliott, H. Fairman, M. Wise, L. C. Henrichsen, A. R. VanHouten, William H. Drake, H. W. Boyce, Reuben Leveridge, Mrs. Lizzie McNary, Miss A. R. Richards, Mrs. A. R. VanHouten, Mrs. Kate S. Wise, Mrs. D. B. Boyce, Mrs. Eliza Ainsa.

The names above signed comprise nearly the entire list of cabin passengers—published last Saturday morning. We are informed that the cabin passengers also made up and presented to the Stewardess a handsome purse of money, in recognition of her kind attentions to the ladies during the trying ordeal.

THE PARK PROPERTY.

We present below a list of the Park property that will have to be purchased by the city, in case the proposition for opening Park Row shall be accepted by the citizens:

The above list, as will be seen, does not include the Bloch property in the Raleigh triangle, nor the blocks in Couch's Addition, in the line of the Park Row, beyond G street. We understand that it will cost about $10,000 to open the Row through Mr. Bloch's property. We are not in possession of any definite information as to the price at which the blocks in Couch's Addition can be purchased, but we believe that the terms will be made liberal. The total cost, including these blocks, is $124,450.

The Railroads.—The Bulletin announces the return of Messrs. Ben. Holladay and W. L. Halsey from a trip of inspection on the Oregon Central railroad, and says the track has been laid fourteen miles, the grading is completed nearly to Hillsboro and will be finished as far as Cornelius by the first of December. It is in contemplation to continue the work through the winter in order to complete the road to Junction early next summer. The Oregon and California road will be completed as far as Oakland by Christmas if the iron shall arrive in time.

Unk Weed in the East.—Dr. A. M. Loryea, one of the proprietors of the Oregon Medical Laboratory of this city, left here last week for New York, where he proposes to establish a branch of the Laboratory and introduce in the Eastern States the Oregon Unk Weed preparations, which he has so successfully manufactured in this State as to give him the reputation of the "Celebrated Unk Weed Man." As it is well known to every man, woman and child in this State, his unk weed preparations possess all the virtues that are claimed for them, and they will not lose their valuable medicinal properties by being transferred to the Atlantic shores; and this being the first Remedy that our prolific Oregon has offered to the people of the East, we naturally shall watch with interest the result of its introduction, and have no doubt that thousands of the afflicted will bless Oregon for yielding such an invaluable remedy for the alleviations of their sufferings. There is no one in this State who, as far as medical knowledge (having occupied the highest medical positions here) and business energy is concerned, is so well calculated to take charge of and introduce Oregon's Remedy to the favorable notice of the people of the Atlantic States, and with the well known virtues of the Unk Weed, and the business abilities of Dr. Loryea, we have no doubt of its complete success abroad. Outside of any pecuniary profits to Dr. Loryea, its success is a matter of pride to us, from the fact that it is one of Oregon's productions, and will be heralded as such abroad, which will tend to attract attention to our State and be another evidence of her fruitfulness.

ASSETS......$17,000,000!
ISSUED 9,925 POLICIES IN 1870.
Insuring Over $27,000,000!
WM. H. BEERS, Vice President and Actuary. MORRIS FRANKLIN, President.

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES OFFERED BY THE NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY are:—
1st. PURE MUTUALITY, so that the entire surplus earnings over the actual cost of insurance is returned to the policy holders who are the only members.
2d. AGE, having been organized in 1845. It has the benefit of the experience of a quarter of a century, and members are thus guaranteed from all doubtful experiment in the method of conducting its business.
3d. STABILITY AND PERPETUITY shown by the accumulation of a capital of Seventeen Millions of Dollars, after paying all losses promptly, and returning large dividends to its members. It has now an income of over Seven Millions of Dollars, and the interest on its investments, with premium on gold, &c., has been sufficient during the past two years to pay accruing losses.
4th. NON-FORFEITURE OF POLICIES. It originated the system of non-forfeiture of policies, and to it the public are indebted for a feature so favorable to the insured.
5th. SUICIDE does not cause a forfeiture of the policy, that being considered an evidence of insanity, and insanity the result of disease.
6th. DIVIDENDS. Its dividends are declared annually, and are available immediately as cash in payment of premiums. Many companies declare their premiums annually, but do not pay them till several years thereafter; others defer their declarations for two, three or four years from the time the policy commences. In this Company a party always has a dividend which can be used in the payment of the second and all subsequent annual premiums.
7th. ITS DIVIDEND SYSTEM is the "Contribution Plan," by which each member is charged with the exact cost of his insurance, and receives back his surplus payments. These dividends can remain with the Company, participating in its earnings, and be used at any subsequent period in the payment of premiums.
8th. LIBERALITY IN SETTLEMENT OF LOSSES. Experience has shown that cases arise where policies, although EQUITABLY claims, are not LEGALLY so. The records of this Company bear many acknowledgments from widows and relatives of deceased members of its liberality and fairness in settlement of all such losses. There being no stockholders in the Company to share its profits, interests adverse to policy-holders cannot possibly arise, the Trustees simply occupying the position of arbitrators between the members, with no inducement to take from one and give to another.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, OF HARTFORD, CONN.
FOUNDED IN THE YEAR 1820.
Adopted Mutual System in the year 1861.

ACCUMULATED CAPITAL OVER	$16,000,000.
ITS ANNUAL INCOME OVER	6,000,000.
WHOLE NUMBER OF POLICIES ISSUED TO DATE, NEARLY	100,000.
NUMBER OF POLICIES ISSUED IN 1870	11,217.

THE ÆTNA RANKS AS ONE OF THE FIRST COMPANIES IN THE LAND!
IN INCOME, IN ASSETS, IN NUMBER OF POLICIES, IN AMOUNT INSURED, IN SOLIDITY AND STRENGTH. IN SOUNDNESS, CHEAPNESS, PROMPTNESS AND SUCCESS.

THE AMOUNT OF DIVIDEND A COMPANY CAN PAY ITS INSURED, DEPENDS UPON THE RATES charged for insurance, the AMOUNT of business done, the EXPENSE of doing it, the INTEREST on its investments, the CARE exercised in the selection of its risks, and the TIME when such dividends are paid. In regard to these, as also all other points, the ÆTNA is unsurpassed in advantages by any other Insurance Company in the United States.
The New York Insurance Monitor says of the Ætna:—"No Life Insurance Company ever achieved so complete a success as this popular institution. Its popularity is altogether unprecedented in the annals of commercial enterprise in this country."
The New York Independent says of the Ætna Life:—"It is to-day one of the soundest and most reliable Insurance Companies in the United States—every dollar of its assets well secured, more than providing for all liabilities; and it eminently deserves a still greater patronage and the unhesitating confidence of the public."

What Dyspepsia may End In.
Indigestion is not dangerous say the faculty. Perhaps not in itself, while it remains mere indigestion; but look at the consequences to which it may lead, and often does end when it becomes a chronic disease. A spark of fire is a small thing. A pressure of the foot will put it out; a breath will extinguish it. Yet it may fire a powder mill, or kindle a flame that will consume a city. In like manner indigestion may produce gastritis, cancer of the stomach, congestion of the bowels, apoplexy, liver disease, and many other dangerous maladies. Is it not wise, then, to check it in the germ? Nothing is more clearly and indisputably established than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will eradicate dyspepsia in all its stages. The true policy, however, is to extinguish it in the first stages with this wholesome, powerful, and infallible tonic and alterative. It is easier to quench a spark than a flame, and it is easier to cure dyspepsia when it is first developed than when it has made headway by neglect, and become complicated with other ailments. There is not the shadow of a doubt that the bitters are as directly antagonistic to dyspepsia as water is to fire. There are thousands of cases on record proving this fact. The remedy is safe and agreeable. All the liquors of commerce prescribed as stimulants leave a sting behind. But the sting is taken out of the spirituous basis of this great remedy by vegetable medication, and, moreover, the stimulant thus medicated is of exceptional purity. Of all tonics taken as safeguards or remedies for fever and ague, bilious remittent, and other fall epidemics it is the only one that can uniformly be depended upon.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 15, 1871.

Gold in New York—111¾.

Portland Legal Tender quotations, 89c buying, and 90c selling.

In some quarters East there appears to be a growing impression of a stringent money market ruling there this Winter, while others anticipate an easy market. With an easy market many lines of goods will advance, but with a stringent money market prices will recede, or remain weak at rates now ruling.

Our latest mail advices show that the increased imports into New York from July 1st, 1871, to Oct. 28 is only about $6,000,000 in excess of the like period of 1870. The exports of domestic produce from New York since July 1st, 1871, to Oct. 26th, by declared clearances, amounts to $78,000,000, against $60,000,000 for the like period of 1870; showing an increase in exports of $18,000,000. The exports of gold from July 1st, 1870, to Oct. 26th aggregate $34,947,000 against $18,332,000 for the like period for this year. The value of the Cotton export out of last year's crop, reduced to gold, was $194,934,918, out of a gross crop of 4,357,000 bales. The export value out of this year's crop is estimated at not less than $225,000,000, gold, out of a gross crop of from 3,600,000 to 4,000,000 bales, the increased price making up for more than the short crop. The heaviest importing months for this year are past, while the largest exporting months are at hand. With such a state of affairs as the above indicates we cannot at this writing see that there will be either a stringent money market, or that Gold will advance again this year, if before next Spring. The flow of money to the West and South, to move the crops, will be checked to a great extent, if not altogether, in this month by the tide setting back again to New York.

The steamboat Wenat took on to-day a full load of supplies for the upper Cowlitz river. This is the first shipment since early Summer by boat to the upper Cowlitz, owing to the low stage of the water.

The damage done to the schooner Mila Bond on Tillamook bar will be easily repaired. Of the cargo report says fully one-half is damaged. She had on, upon leaving here, a large cargo of assorted merchandise and household goods, about one-half being covered by insurance.

We present below a copy the manifest of the brig Orient, which sailed from San Francisco Nov. 8th and is due at this port the last of this week.

The steamer John L. Stephens arrived at 8½ o'clock.

The consignees of the Sparkling Dew, which put into Rio Janeiro for repairs, received advices some days ago that she would sail the last of this month from there. We are to-day in receipt of the names of vessels in that port on the 10th of October, among which we cannot find her name, which would indicate she had sailed previous to that date.

On the 9th of October the ship Queen of the East and on the 10th of October the ship Nightingale, both having on cargoes of assorted merchandise, bound from New York to San Francisco, sailed from Rio Janeiro, where they had put in for repairs.

Commercial writers East differ as to the probable future of the Sugar market, some contending prices will rule higher, while others—who are a minority—contend that prices will remain as now. The market East affects our market more sensitively than previous to the completion of the Continental Railroad. The following we clip from a leading Eastern exchange:

We had received to the 23d of September, from Havana and Matanzas, only 8,000 tons less than last year, while the exportation to Europe amounted to 123,000 tons less. From Porto Rico and the British and French Islands we received such enormous quantities that the whole importation at our four leading ports, up to the 1st of October, shows an increase of 65,000 tons, and the large distribution of 48,000 tons per month as the average, against 42,000 per month in 1870, has been of no avail. We entered the present month with a stock at the four ports [illegible] of 6,000 tons more than we had last year. The distribution during October, November and December, 1870, was 97,000 tons, we imported 42,000 tons. We can expect but little more from Havana or Matanzas, there being a pressure of a demand from England; the stock at those places, too, to be 23d of September, was only about 40,000 tons in boxes. The closing importations of the year will probably be less, therefore, than those of 1870.

From advices received this week the Louisiana crop appears to be no heavier than that of last year—147,000 hhds. The estimates a few weeks ago was 220,000 hhds.

The abolition of slavery in Brazil may have some effect on the Sugar production in the provinces, the outlets of which are Bahia and Pernambuco. The latter port, especially, is of great importance to us, as it supplies us in December and January, below the regular crops, with refining grades. The Brazil crop reaches about 200,000 tons, nearly as much as the maximum product of Louisiana.

The writer ignores the fact that the increased consumption has been greater than the increased receipts and that consumptive demand is increasing instead of decreasing. The same can be said equally as true of Great Britain and the Continent, where the cane Sugar imports are less and where there also exists a short crop of Beet Root Sugar.

The Chicago Post gives the following as a correct list of the losses by the Chicago fire of the principal agency insurance companies, on the authority of expert adjusters in that city:

Liverpool and London and Globe	$3,500,000

Real Estate Transactions.

D. L. Prettyman and wife to [illegible] Rennison, part of a tract of land in Multnomah county, owned by D. L. Prettyman and S. M. Lyons, containing 15 acres—$1,000.

Produce Market.

WHEAT—Owing to the adverse advices from Liverpool and San Francisco, shippers show no anxiety to make further purchases even at our yesterday's quotations. In the absence of any transactions we quote the market weak at the nominal quotation of $2 20@2 25 ₩ cental sacked.

FLOUR—There still continues a fair call from the trade for standard brands for local consumption. The San Francisco market is depleted of our choice brands, and in consequence the inquiry from there is good. We quote market firm at $7 40 ₩ bbl for extra and $6 50@7 ₩ bbl for superfine, with prices for outside brands ruling $1 ₩ bbl less.

PROVISIONS—The market is well supplied with new Cured Meats of our best packers. One party in San Francisco, so we were informed on good authority there, has contracted for 1,000 head per month of fat Hogs, delivered by overland railroad from Iowa, at 6½c ₩ lb live. We quote market here in jobbing lots for Bacon, 14½@16c ₩ lb; Hams, 16½@17c; Shoulders, 11@12c.

LARD—We quote market in jobbing lots for 10-lb tins, 14@15c; in kegs, 14@15c and [illegible] Johnson's fresh in 10-lb tins, 16c.

BUTTER—Market for inferior quality well supplied; choice is scarce. We quote market in jobbing lots for brine at 30@35c; solid, 27@32c; rolls, 35@40c.

Merchandise Market.

DRIED FRUITS—Market well supplied with receipts free. We quote market in jobbing lots for Dried Apples, [illegible] 6@6½c ₩ lb; in kegs, 7@7½c. Dried Plums, pitless, 16@18c ₩ lb.

FISH—The Pacific catch of Cod is largely in excess of last year, and prices are barely sustained in San Francisco. The catch East is reported as very large. The Portsmouth Chronicle says: "The Fish Fleet from this harbor have completed their season's work; the catch of Codfish has been unusually large; the fish nearly all sold at prices a little less than last year's. The catch of Mackerel is about an average, with an upward tendency in prices."

PETROLEUM—Market here and in San Francisco quiet and prices nominal. The production for the month of October in Pennsylvania compared with the previous month shows a falling off of about 47,000 bbls. The exports since January 1st, 1871, to October 24th are as follows:

From Boston, gallons	1,861,600
New York	77,238,852
Philadelphia	44,796,088
Baltimore	2,304,480
Total exports from the United States	126,200,576
Same time 1870	113,269,960
Same time 1869	83,006,212
Same time 1868	83,909,218
Same time 1867	52,277,829
